

PORT ARTHUR

The Scene of a Bloody Battle

TWENTY THOUSAND JAPS PERISH

Caught in the Russian Wire Entanglements and Mowed Down By Rain Of Bullets. Japs Lose Armored Cruiser

JAPS LOSE ARMORED CRUISER.

Rome, Aug. 3.—The Giornale D'Italia today publishes a despatch from Tokio announcing that the Japanese armored cruiser, Kasuga, formerly the Argentine warship Rivadavia, and purchased in Italy, had been sunk. The announcement caused a great sensation here.

The Kasuga and Nishin, armored cruisers, were purchased by the Japanese from the Argentine Republic. The Kasuga on May 15th, collided with and sunk the Japanese cruiser Yoshino, only nine of the latter's crew being saved. Both the Kasuga and the Nishin have taken part in the bombardment of Port Arthur.

The Kasuga was of about 7700 tons displacement, carried a crew of 500 officers and men, and mounted one ten-inch gun, two eight-inch, 14 six-inch, 10 three-inch and eight smaller rapid firing guns. She had six inches of nickel steel armor.

JAPS LOSE HEAVILY BUT WIN OUT.

Tokio, Aug. 3.—The Japanese took Simoncheng Sunday. Six guns were captured. The Japanese casualties were 400, the Russian loss was heavier. General Kuroki's losses in Saturday's and Sunday's fighting were 972.

KUROPATKIN'S RETREAT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—In a despatch to the Emperor dated August 2nd, General Kuropatkin says: "Our troops have retired from Hai Cheng along the road towards Anshansha. The movement was accomplished in perfect order and the enemy did not disturb us. The terrible heat has caused many sunstrokes, and measures have been taken to diminish the equipment the troops have hitherto been obliged to carry by transporting it in supply carts."

RUSSIANS ADMIT LOSING 1,000 MEN.

Liao Yang, Aug. 3.—The Russian attempt to push back a numerically superior force of Japanese from Kuchialau on July 31, resulted in an admitted loss of 1,000 men.

MORE JAPANESE VICTORIES.

Tokio, August 4.—The Japanese defeated the Russians at Tancheng or Simoncheng, as it is also known, and drove them toward Hai Cheng, in a sharp fight which began last Saturday and ended on Sunday. The Russians left 1,500 dead on the field and lost six guns.

RUSSIANS FORCED BACK.

Hai Cheng, August 4.—In consequence of the desperate fighting of the last few days and the Japanese movement, the Russians have been compelled to evacuate Hai Cheng and fall back on Anshansha.

TERRIBLE ASSAULT ON PORT ARTHUR.

Chefoo, Aug. 4.—A desperate three days' assault on the inner defences of the northern and eastern sides of Port Arthur has failed. Russians state that the earth trembled under the terrific cannonading which began July 26th and ended during the night of July 28th, when the battle ceased. The Chinese who have arrived here on junks confirm the Russians' statements that the Russian killed and wounded during the assault number between five and six thousand.

RUSSIAN STORY OR RESULT.

The Japanese in their repeated assaults against the eastern forts on the hills through barbed wire entanglements and over mines, displayed fanatical bravery. They were mowed down by the hail of shells and bullets and the explosion of mines under their feet. Their losses were estimated at 20,000.

The Russians declare that the Russians held all the eastern forts leading to Golden Hill and that the Japanese, shattered and exhausted, retired to the eastward.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT IN WINNIPEG

At the Dominion Exhibition. The Collapse of a Roof Hurtled One Hundred and Fifty Persons Among Frightened Cattle. A List of the Injured.

Bulletin Special Dispatch.

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—Forty-five people were injured by the collapse of a huge cattle shed at the exhibition grounds yesterday evening while watching a fight between a negro and a bull.

It appears that these sheds overlooked the ring where Noremus, the black bull fighter, nightly takes on a steer or a bull and wrestles with the animal for special gate money.

Crowds of eight-seers, however, climbed on these sheds to avoid paying the entrance to the ring. The shed in question last night held over five hundred people and crumbled ominously during that period.

Tonight they were warned of the danger by the police. Nevertheless about 150 surreptitiously heaved themselves up on the roof to watch the struggle.

The police then proceeded to drive them off, but the people, 150 in number, hunched on the weak spot, which suddenly fell in and precipitated the struggling mass on to the prize animals and the pen framework below. There was an indescribable scene of confusion for a few minutes, the frightened cattle plunging furiously among the chaos of broken timbers and struggling humanity. Rescue parties were quickly organized, doctors and ambulances were summoned, and it was discovered that 31 people were seriously injured, 13 of whom were taken to the Winnipeg General Hospital, three to St. Boniface Hospital, and the rest to their homes.

The cattle shed roof was built merely to carry its own weight and it was not anticipated that crowds would walk on it. The building was five hundred feet long. The crowd thereon, of course, was mostly men and boys.

A list of the injured follows: Alva Boynton, owner of race horses, Tacoma, aged 31, seriously injured. George Walker, City. James Irwin, Shoal Lake. H. Bourdonius, St. Jean. John Currie, W. Thomas, Albert Jowett, Robert Miller, City. John Shields, Portage La Prairie. A. Edwards, Hamilton, Ont. Alfred Mills, Oak Lake. P. W. Grant, C.Y.

Donald Campbell, Oak Hammock. William Davis, St. Andrews. James Mumford, City. Frank Spielman, Seattle, jockey. Jacob Black, City.

Vernon Parslow, Calgary. W. J. Langsill, City. John Braden, Cape Breton. J. A. McWalters, and John Soper, boy, City.

Use and Value of Mill Feeds

A leading Nova Scotia farmer points out that the average man buys the different kinds of mill feeds without knowing the grade he is buying, the value of each, or the kind of stock to which it should be fed. In this connection it may be said that numerous experiments have been made in Europe and America in order to ascertain the money value of various feeds according to the nutrients they contain, but the results have been so conflicting that Prof. Henry concludes, in his standard work "Feeds and Feeding," that at present it is impossible to state the value of one feeding stuff in terms of another from calculations based upon the nutrients contained in each. The value to the farmer of these purchased feeding stuffs depends largely upon the sort of roughage and grain with which they are to be fed. Mill feeds are so subject to adulteration that several American experiment stations devote a great deal of attention to making and publishing analyses of the various brands. Some brief notes on the more common feeds are all that a newspaper article will allow.

Wheat is a suitable feed for all kinds of live stock, if fed with judgment. Shrunken and damaged wheat can be fed to advantage, as it may be nearly or quite equal to the best grain for this purpose. For fattening stock wheat is considered worth about ten per cent. less than corn. The by-products of wheat in common use are bran, shorts, middlings and low grade flour. Bran is recognized as one of the very best feeds for dairy cows and sheep and for horses—not at hard work. On account of its coarse and fibrous nature, it is admirably adapted for mixing with corn, peas, and other highly concentrated feeds, but for the same reason it is not suited for feeding in large quantities to hard-worked horses or young pigs. The distinction between shorts and middlings is not always clearly marked, although the former is supposed to be reground bran, and the latter the finer particles of bran with some flour included. The poorer grades of shorts often contain the sweepings and dirt of the mill and are not satisfactory for feeding. Middlings are especially useful for feeding pigs, along with skim milk or corn. The lowest grade of flour, frequently known as "Red Dog" usually contains the germs of the wheat, and on account of its high protein and fat content is a valuable feed for cows, hard-worked horses and growing pigs. The better sorts of low grade flour are similar in composition to the best grades and cannot often be fed at a profit.

Corn is the best of all the cereals for fattening stock. It is used very largely in the manufacture of starch, glucose, beer, spirits, etc., and consequently has a long list of by-products. In the processes of manufacture the starch is removed, and the remainder of the grain is sold under the name of gluten feed, which is well suited for dairy cows and fattening stock. Gluten meal is gluten feed without the hulls and germs of the corn and is very rich in protein and fat. It is a capital feed for dairy cows, but on account of its concentrated nature, should be mixed with bran or oats. Corn germ is very rich in protein and oil; after the oil is pressed out the residue is known as corn oil meal, or corn oil cake, also a valuable feed. Corn bran is relatively low in feeding value. There are numerous other corn feeds on the market, but they vary greatly in composition and value and should be bought only under a guaranteed analysis.

The feeding value of oats is well known. Oat hulls, oat dust, and oat feed or shorts are the chief by-products of this grain. Oat hulls are of little value for feed, but are often mixed with corn meal, etc., and the mixture sold as ground oats. Oat dust consists chiefly of the minute hairs removed from the kernel in the preparation of oatmeal. It has a fair feeding value, especially if broken kernels are present, and there is not too much mill sweepings. Oat shorts and oat feed vary greatly in composition, although the better grades show a feeding value similar to that of oatmeal.

Barley is a first-class feed for pigs and dairy cows. The by-products, brewers' grains and malt sprouts, are largely fed in some sections. Brewers' grains are simply barley from which the dextrin and sugar have been extracted. The wet grains are not desirable for general use, but the dried grains are easily kept and are rich in protein and fat, ranking with bran and oil meal as a feed for dairy cows. Malt sprouts are a cheap and excellent feed for cows, but they are not greatly relished and only two or three pounds a day can be fed.

Peas are very rich in protein, and are among the best feeds for growing animals, dairy cows and pigs. Pea meal is too concentrated to be fed alone. There are no by-products in general use.

Oil cake or oil meal is a by-product of the manufacture of lard oil. It is a very rich and healthful feed, particularly for fattening cattle and sheep. Its high protein content makes it valuable for feeding in moderate quantities to dairy cows, along with corn silage.

Cottonseed meal is a by-product in making cottonseed oil. It is richest of all the concentrates, but varies greatly in quality. It is not suitable for pigs or calves. Good cottonseed meal, which is a bright lemon-yellow in color, and has a fresh, pleasant taste, may be profitably fed in reasonable quantity if combined with other feeds. Not more than three or four pounds daily should be fed to dairy cows.

Good ironing is principally a matter of good starching. Anyone can do excellent ironing with Celluloid Starch. It requires no boiling, soaks into the fabric without rubbing, the iron never sticks—the result is pliable stiffness and a beautiful finish.

Celluloid Starch saves labor and time, never disappoints and keeps your white goods clean longest. Ask your grocer for

PARLIAMENT

Ottawa Correspondence:

Declaring an Abstract Principle

A large part of the time of yesterday's sitting was occupied by a discussion on a 'want of confidence' motion moved by the Leader of the Opposition. The motion read as follows:

"In making appointments to public offices, and particularly those of a representative nature, party services should not alone be considered, but selections should be made with regard to capacity and personal worth."

This is an abstract statement with which no one will disagree, but it cannot be said to be a frank or fitting conclusion to a discussion in which the merit of a specific Government appointment was the subject. Mr. Borden and his friends had made a series of allegations and insinuations against a Mr. Jackson who had been appointed by the Minister of Trade and Commerce as Canadian Commercial Agent at Leeds, England. Had his motion been in accord with his accusations it might have been commendable, but after spending hours in accusation, to conclude with a motion which contained no accusation is playing at politics with intent to mislead the public. As to whether Jackson's appointment was in accord with the principles laid down in Mr. Borden's motion there may very well be differences of opinion, but those differences are not settled in any degree by the motion, nor are Mr. Borden and his friends committed to any definite course of action by its support.

The Facts of the Case

The case is, that J. B. Jackson, of South Oxford, who had been appointed Commercial Agent at Leeds, England, by Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce, had at some time previous to his appointment taken an active part in a campaign to unseat the members for South Oxford in the Ontario Assembly. This was the cause of offence urged against him by the Leader of the Opposition, which, in his mind, should have debarred Mr. Jackson from Government employment. It is not wonderful that Mr. Borden, clever lawyer as he is, took every good care not to commit himself or his party definitely to such a position.

The motion was defeated by 70 to 42, a Government majority of 27. Mr. Erby, Liberal, of South Perth, voted with the Opposition.

Estimates

Public Works estimates were taken up and discussed during the remainder of the day, moderate progress being made. There is general talk of a prorogation next week but so far the date has not been announced.

PARLIAMENT

Ottawa Correspondence:

Another Militia Grievance?

The greater part of yesterday was devoted to an attempt by the handful of Opposition members present to create a political issue in connection with the Militia administration. Lord Dunsford's departure under the circumstances occasioning it, having discredited their previous attempts in the same line, it became necessary to select a new martyr. In this instance the victim is one Colonel Gregory of the Lincoln Battalion of Volunteers, whose case had already been referred to, and now was brought up in the House by Langstaff, Conservative member for Lincoln, by reading a letter of complaint from Colonel Gregory.

It appears that it is a rule of the Militia Department to limit the term of regimental officers to five years, with the privilege of a year's further extension, making in all six years. This rule was adopted for the purpose of giving an opportunity to ambitious members of the force to attain the highest positions, from which they had hitherto been debarred by the custom of officers retaining their position for an indefinite period. In the case of Colonel Gregory, he had served five years and had asked for an extension of three years. This was two years beyond the provision of the regulations and was not granted him, but he was given the usual year's extension. His second-in-command had been physically unfitted by reason of loss of voice for the colonelcy, and Gregory depended on the continued unfitness of his second as a means of forcing the Minister to continue him in chief command beyond the regular time. The physical inability of the second, being known to the Department, the district officer commanding, Colonel Otter, recommended the promotion of a Major Glasgow, who, unfortunately, happened to be a Liberal. This Gregory objected to, although there was no question as to Glasgow's fitness for the position, and expressed himself in such terms while in camp at Niagara that he was retired from the command. His five years' time with one year's extension—having then almost expired, and having no expectation of a further continuation of the term, he no doubt felt that he could take liberties which he otherwise would not have attempted, but possibly was somewhat surprised at finding his bluff called.

Hypocritical Pretensions and Waste of Time

This was the matter upon which the attention of the Canadian House of Commons was centered for the greater part of a day's sitting, without anyone undertaking to champion the cause of Colonel Gregory by a definite motion or a vote. With from fifteen to twenty members of the Opposition party in the House, one after another got up and made a tirade of accusations and insinuations against the Militia Department without committing themselves or their party to any definite course. These men assumed the ground of friends of the militia and of the militia organization, while, by the use of their positions in Parliament, they were doing everything they could to discredit not only the administration of the Department but to encourage the breaking of one of its well-defined and universally acceptable rules. Either this rule retiring officers at the end of six years is a good one, or it is not. If it is good it should be maintained; if it is not good it should be amended. The members of the Opposition, while declaring that it should not have been adhered to in the case of Colonel Gregory, did not in the most remote degree suggest that the rule was not a good one or should not be in existence. They simply wanted it broken in the case of Colonel Gregory and argued in favor of its being broken, not because of the merits of the case, but simply to create a grievance, or at least a division of opinion, where there should be none. A more shameless attempt to prostitute the good of the militia to partisan purposes has never been made, even by the Opposition in the present Parliament, not excluding the Dundonald affair in all its phases. The climax of hypocrisy was reached when McPherson, Liberal, of Burrard, B.C., protested in somewhat lurid language against the waste of time and money in the discussion by Parliament, at such length, of such a trivial matter, and Clarke of Toronto replied that the Opposition were protesting "against the prostitution of our militia for political purposes" and declared his belief that the militia should be kept out of politics. Mr. Clarke and his friends are evidently under the impression that the people are fools.

The Day's Work Begun at 10 p. m.

The Public Works estimates were taken up at about 10 o'clock at night. The Acting Minister, Mr. Hyman, was on hand to push them forward, but the same handful of obstructionists which have already delayed Parliament so many months were still on hand and still as ready to obstruct as ever. The Leader of the Opposition left the House as soon as the estimates were taken up, and the procedure on the Opposition side was without let or hindrance from that time forward. This has been the practice of Mr. Borden for some considerable time. Either he has no control over his followers or he does not care how much the business of the country is delayed and its interests sacrificed by their obstruction of public business.

Mr. Borden Should either Lead or Follow

It has been announced for several days that he would leave Ottawa some time next week. It would surely

War Notes

London, July 29.—Mr. Balfour, in a printed reply to the question announced by Thos. Gibson Bowles in the House of Commons, July 17, asking for information regarding the actions of the Russian armored cruiser Dimitri Donskoi in the Mediterranean, confirmed the facts recited by Mr. Bowles, and added that the British government's view is that any ship using coal for purposes other than that for which it was obtained should not thereafter be afforded coaling facilities.

Mr. Bowles asked the government if it was aware that the Russian armored cruiser Dimitri Donskoi, after being allowed to take 500 tons of coal at Port Said, and after her captain had given his word of honor that he would proceed at once and by the direct route to Cadiz, remained off Port Said and stopped and examined six vessels which were about to enter the canal, and a few days later repeated the stoppage off Alexandria. Mr. Bowles also wanted to know what steps the government would take to prevent belligerent ships securing at British ports "coal to be used in operations of war."

Vladivostok, July 29.—The German steamer Arabia, under charter of an American company, which was captured by the Russian cruiser Gromoboi, July 22, a hundred miles north of Yokohama, has arrived here in charge of a prize crew.

That portion of the steamer's cargo which is alleged to be contraband comes from Portland, Ore. The Arabia with two other ships of the Hamburg-American company, is under charter for three years to the American Trading company, which, it is asserted, is engaged in carrying contraband.

She is commanded by Captain Bahle and has a crew of ten Germans and twenty-seven Chinese. According to statements by the Chinese on board, many American steamers are engaged in carrying contraband.

The Arabia left Portland July 2nd, with a cargo of flour and railroad material. The greater part of the flour—2,706 tons—is addressed to Hong Kong and is not liable to seizure, but 466 tons of flour and 542 tons of railway material are addressed to Yokohama, Kobe, and Nagasaki, and consequently are contraband. The iron of the cargo consists of platforms, wheels, axles, boilers, and parts of bridges.

As the contraband of war aboard the Arabia forms less than one-half her cargo, the vessel herself is not liable to seizure. After the contraband has been discharged, therefore, the ship will probably be released. The final decision, as to her disposition rests with the prize court. The prize crew on board consisted of Lieut. Vladislav and forty-two men for the cruiser Gromoboi.

Tokio, July 29.—It is believed that the Vladivostok squadron is off Yokohama today. The steamer Korea which has safely arrived at Yokohama, evidently passed close to the Russian vessels.

Vladivostok, July 29.—It is definitely established that Viceoy Alexoff is coming here and quarters for him and a suite have been prepared in the Gymnasium.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—It is announced that the Baltic Sea squadron's departure for the Far East will not occur for at least two weeks.

The General Staff denies the report circulated in European papers of the wounding of General Kuropatkin at the battle of Ta Tehe Kiao. The general, it is understood, is perfectly well.

Liao Yang, July 29.—(Delayed in transmission)—Further details of the fighting below Ta Tehe Kiao July 23 and 24, indicate that the Japanese losses may reach 5,000 men. The Russian losses are officially stated to be about 700. The Russian front was much extended. The Japanese concentrated their attack against the Russian left, but were repulsed. The Russians made several brilliant bayonet charges, and for the first time the Russian artillery was used in high angle fire from behind a hill. The fire was directed by telephone from an eminence and attained great precision. The Russians did not retire until it was established that the Japanese had seven divisions.

The Russian forces are concentrated at Hai Chenz and probably will not retire further. It is expected that the Japanese will now advance against the left flank of the Russian southern army.

Berlin, July 29.—The Foreign Office today informed the Associated Press that Russia has agreed to fully indemnify German shippers and their consignees, for any losses sustained by the seizures of German ships and the detention of the Prinz Heinrich's mail. An inquiry is now in progress to determine what claims shall be presented. Russia also agrees to restore and forward the contents of the two seized packages.

C. N. R. GRADING

SPLENDID PROGRESS

Is Being made on the Grading of the Canadian Northern to Edmonton

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—Splendid progress is being made on the grading of the Canadian Northern line to Edmonton, and Mr. J. D. McArthur is confident that the northern town will be reached this year. There is some delay east of the South Saskatchewan, where Mr. McArthur's own outfit and Mr. McMillan's are finishing up. The line has been all cleared up, and the removal of the sod, with the heavy rain recently, has resulted in a muddy surface. Rain started to fall Thursday, and four inches was the average that fell before it stopped. This will delay the work a week and prevent the outfits getting on to the west work. It will also delay the laying of steel, which is now at the 330 mile post west of Winnipeg.

West of the South Saskatchewan, the line has been graded 100 miles and outfits are at work as far west as Battleford. West of there the work is much easier for grading. The line goes six or eight miles north of Battleford, it being found impossible to enter the town, owing to hills. There are four big bridges to be constructed; one over the south branch at Clarke's Crossing, and one at the Elbow, one at Battleford and one at Edmonton. The five piers and the abutments are all in at Clarke's Crossing, and a trestle 95 feet high has been erected in the meantime, awaiting the coming of the steel superstructure, which will be brought in over the new line. A 65,000 yard cut on the line east of the South Saskatchewan is also causing some delay, big boulders having to be removed through the hill work.

Action Taken

Free Press:

Ottawa, July 29th.—On the item of $300,000 for the equipment and maintenance of steamships for the patrolling of the Hudson Bay, and for the establishment of police posts, Sir Wilfrid Laurier says:

"The committee, I am sure, has not forgotten that last year we sent an expedition to explore, patrol and assert the authority of the government of Canada in Hudson Bay and the northern waters."

"The object of this expedition was fully explained to the House last year, and met with general favor."

"The view was to assert beyond any possibility of doubt, so as to prevent any further possible conflict, the undoubted authority of the Dominion of Canada in the waters of Hudson Bay and beyond."

"The steamer Neptune was chartered last year and sailed from Halifax. It had on board a representative of the marine and fisheries department, a representative of the geological department, Inspector Moodle and five men of the Mounted Police. The instructions given to the expedition, which was for the time being under the chief control of Mr. Low, was to explore as far as it could during the season the northern waters, and to establish a post somewhere in Hudson Bay. No definite instructions were given to the expedition as to the location of the post."

"Then, as soon as the break of the ice, which occurred in the spring, would permit, the expedition was to go north and explore Baffin Bay and Lancaster Strait, and then come back to Cape Chidley, on the Straits of Hudson Bay. There the expedition would be met by another steamer, which was to sail, and has sailed, on the 15th of July, to meet them, and give them coal, provisions, etc."

"The Neptune is to come back and be relieved and be replaced by another boat, the Arctic, which will be under the command of Captain Bernier, and which is to sail on August 15th. This boat will carry an officer and ten men of the Mounted Police apart from the crew of the ship. They will relieve the Neptune. Their instructions are to patrol the waters of Hudson Bay to find suitable locations for posts, to establish those posts and to assert the jurisdiction of Canada."

"The government has been induced to take this action because it is evident that the time has come when our interests in these northern waters should no longer be neglected. At the present time there are waters and fishermen of different nations in these waters, and unless we are active to assert what is the undoubted fact that these lands belong to Canada, we may perhaps find ourselves later on in the face of serious complications."

In order that the committee might understand it better, Sir Wilfrid displayed maps on which he traced the proposed routes of these vessels and the places they have and are to visit, to a group of interested members who crowded around the table in the centre of the floor. The item passed without further comment.

Crushing Defeat for Russia

The Brooklyn Eagle, concerning the far eastern situation, says:

When the Franco-Prussian war began in the middle of July, 1870, no one supposed that a crushing blow could be delivered by either side within six short weeks. And yet on the first day of the following September, the Emperor of France, with a great army, was in the hands of his enemies. All efforts to break through the cordon enveloping him at Sedan had been repulsed, and with his cavalry wasted, his infantry overwhelmed and his artillery spent, he had no alternative but to acknowledge the most ignominious defeat ever sustained by French arms. Even the comprehensive strategy of Moltke and the swift and certain execution of Von Troon had not been credited by their most optimistic admirers with the possibility of effecting a result so tremendous in so brief a time. The Prussians had not bargained to watch and feed 90,000 prisoners of war. The progress of the Japanese toward an achievement as decisive as this has not been as swift as was the progress of the Prussians, but considering the nature of the ground over which they move, they are developing with remarkable accuracy and speed a plan that promises to their enemies a disaster as wholesale as that which overtook Napoleon III.

From what we can gather from the despatches it is certain that Generals Nodzu and Oku continue to act in admirable concert in the northwestern section of the Liaotung peninsula. The co-operation of the forces under these two officers gives to the Japanese advance the appearance of a huge semicircle to which the Russians oppose an army greatly inferior in numbers. Thus it is always possible for the Japanese to sustain an attack upon the Russian centre by threatening to envelop the Russian flanks. The fear of this envelopment contributed largely to the Japanese victory at Motien pass and was also responsible for the evacuation of Ta Tehe Kiao, an important position given up last Sunday evening after a furious artillery duel supplemented by an infantry assault in which seven divisions of the Japanese army are known to have taken part. As a Japanese division comprises about 15,000 men, this means that the Russians were compelled to face an army 100,000 strong. The difficulties of General Kuropatkin, the Russian commander in chief, are increasing at a bewildering rate. The evasion of his advanced regiments from Ta Tehe Kiao has been followed by their stand at Hai Cheng, a small town on the line of the railway about thirty miles southwest of Liao Yang, and 25 miles northeast of their former position. More fighting will occur there and elsewhere before Kuropatkin can be forced to stake the fortune of the war on one general engagement. To bring about such an engagement is obviously the chief aim of the Japanese campaign. To make the event certain Nodzu and Oku are working north together, and General Kuropatkin is striving to get astride of the Russian communications between Liao Yang and Mukden. Should he succeed in doing so, and the prospect of success is most encouraging, the fate of Kuropatkin will be that of Napoleon at Sedan. He will be entirely surrounded by Japanese columns, through which escape would be impossible. Should he determine upon an early retreat to Mukden or beyond he may save his communications with the north, but he will still have to dodge the net that his opponents are spreading about him with the most consummate skill. His plans for an irresistible southward advance "early in July," long ago vanished into thin air, and it now looks as if he has reached the pass where the very existence of his army is in the balance. If he be compelled to surrender we may expect peace overtures from Russia at once.

Lodges a Protest

London, Aug. 2.—Russia has filed a formal protest at the foreign office against British shipments of contraband to Japan. The Associated Press learns that the Russian government, since the beginning of the war, has carefully watched the manufacture of goods intended for the use of the Japanese government, and so soon as it was established that such goods were about to be shipped to a hostile destination, the facts were officially communicated to the British government, with the result that measures be taken to put a stop to it. It is further asserted that in many cases the government has not taken action, and it is understood that when the war ends, Russia proposes to present a bill for damages to the British government which will offset the indemnities claimed for the seizure of the British steamers. It is also learned by the Associated Press that Russia does not intend to hasten the settlement of the question of the right of vessels of the volunteer fleet to pass the Dardanelles as if negotiations on the subject were conducted at this time, as desired by Great Britain, Russia might be forced by the existing situation to grant concessions she would afterwards regret.

Pleased with the West

Toronto World.

"After a six weeks' trip through the west, I can say with some authority that the prospects for a good crop are excellent, with the exception of Southern Alberta, which is gone as far as wheat is concerned, but which will yield a good supply of sugar beets." This was the statement of E. R. Hyland to the World last night, just as he alighted from the train from the west. Mr. Hyland, as vice-president of Newsome & Co., wholesale manufacturing stationers, has been on a business trip through the west, and has had special opportunities for sizing up the situation.

From Winnipeg to Moose Jaw, he found that the prospects for a crop were very good. But from Moose Jaw to the foothills he saw that chances for any sort of yield were very bad. This he found pleased the ranchers, for they saw in it the death knell of the 160-acre man who is forcing the rancher out of business. From many years' experience Mr. Hyland is of the opinion that the southern country is very uncertain for the farmer. For the past five years they have had good luck, but for the seven years previous they were visited with drought and there is no reason to suppose that the cycle of dryness will not come again. It is this uncertainty that makes farming in Southern Alberta so precarious.

From Edmonton to Fort Saskatchewan the crops are in excellent shape, and the yield is found to be good. Harvesting will be backward this year. Cutting will not commence till about the middle of August, and there will be no threshing till the last possible moment.

Speaking of immigration into the west Mr. Hyland says that there is less this year than last from continental countries and the United States, but that England is sending more than ever. He attributes the falling off in United States immigration to the fact that the presidential elections are on, and to the added fact that hard times have already made their appearance across the line. This fact, he believes, will have a reflex action of more or less weight upon the west, though he did not see any signs of depression during his trip. The immigrants that have come out this year are a better class than those who have come for many years. They all have some money and are prepared to make a better stand in the country.

Crow's Nest Fires

Herald:

J. S. Dennis, assistant to the second vice-president, returned from the Crow's Nest section this morning. He has been looking over the section where devastating forest fires have recently prevailed. Just at present the only serious trouble is between Crow's Nest and Blairmore, where this fire has done considerable damage.

Some rain has fallen through the threatened district, but unless there is further moisture, there is grave apprehension of further loss.

The Great Northern's right of way along the west bank of the Elk river is being burned out and from this source the most disastrous fire started. A saw mill was destroyed from the fire that originated on this right of way. The flames got away from the workmen. The country is full of prospectors, and to their careless use of campfires is attributed much of the trouble.

Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting 8 and 16, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

ENTRY.—Entry may be made for the district in which the land is to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following upon cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(1) At least six months' residence years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence upon the land may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler has obtained a patent for his homestead, or a certificate for the issue of such patent, countersigned in the manner prescribed by this Act, and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clause 2, 3, or 4, must "possess" the land for six months or equivalent time "prior to the issue of the certificate of title" for their accommodation, and have besides 30 acres substantial land.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office, in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART,

Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

A NARROW ESCAPE

As mentioned in the Bulletin press dispatches yesterday the Rev. Chancellor Burwash of Victoria University, Toronto, met with what might have been a fatal accident while driving near Calgary. The Herald gives the following details of the accident:—
 Rev. Chancellor Burwash, Rev. John Burwash, both of Victoria university, Toronto, their wives, and Miss Burwash had a miraculous escape from serious injury in a runaway yesterday afternoon. The party secured a carriage and pair of horses from a city livery stable to drive out to P. Burns' rancho. When descending a steep hill about two miles from the rancho one of the horses refused to hold back and eventually crowded the other animal over the very steep bank. The three ladies and Dr. John Burwash had just time to jump as the rig slid over the side, but the chancellor was not so fortunate. Going over with the vehicle he was thrown out almost under the horses' feet. There was a small crevice in the hillside caused by the spring rains and he got into this. The kicking animals were right above him. In putting his hand up to save his head the chancellor had his hand terribly lacerated by the horses' shoes.
 Finally the team managed to get started again and ran for eight miles when they were captured. The vehicle was none the worse and only one of the lines was broken.
 A vehicle from the Burns rancho conveyed Chancellor Burwash and the ladies to the residence of Rev. E. Langford, who is a son-in-law of Dr. John Burwash. Dr. Anderson was called and put nine stitches in Chancellor Burwash's right hand.
 Dr. John Burwash in jumping from the rig partially dislocated his shoulder, but the ladies escaped with a shaking up. Both the gentlemen had their faces badly scratched.
